

Karkase soldiers: Karkase!!!

The Karkase soldiers begin killing at will all spectators in the crowd at the Love Parade. Omega 2000 is responding to the attack and shouts out the battle cry “187, Warriors, Killers!” Omega 2000 starts suppressing fire against Karkase. Then Karkase begins to return fire at Omega 2000. There is pandemonium in the streets as the two forces collide in a war that becomes a bloodbath. Omega 2000 is following all guidelines accordance the rules of engagement. Karkase, on the other hand, are breaking all the rules, by killing innocent people on the streets.

Dutch is disguised as a derelict on the streets, begging for money and food. He does not draw any attention to Omega 2000, because he is speaking the language with a French accent. He walks over to the side of the street and sits down with his back up against the wall. He picks up a bottle of rum and begins to drink from it. The detonator is attached to the bottle. He sips the alcohol from the bottle and pushes the button on the detonator, waiting for the Eiffel Tower to explode, but there is no explosion. He remembers that two wires never got connected, after he received the command from Ecstasy.

He rushes back to the Eiffel Tower to connect the wires to finish the mission.

He is running towards the Eiffel Tower. Psycho sees him running towards the monument and decides to investigate.

Psycho: Neutron, I need you to hold it down. I got a feeling that bum running towards the Eiffel Tower really isn't a bum. I am going to investigate.

Romulous

The chase is on as Psycho runs behind Dutch, who is disguised as the bum. Dutch is getting closer to the Eiffel Tower. Psycho is also closing in on Dutch. He yells.

Psycho: Halt! Where are you going?

Dutch turns around to fire rounds at Psycho as he hides behind a vehicle. The crowd that is around the Eiffel Tower begins to scatter throughout the street. Dutch and Psycho continue to fire rounds back and forth at each other. During the firefight, both have locked and loaded their last clip. Dutch is out of ammo, then dashes towards the Eiffel Tower. Dutch runs underneath the Eiffel Tower and is nowhere in sight. He looks around to see an elevator with an extension cord in front of it, which was left behind for reconstruction of the Eiffel Tower. Dutch has already taken the elevator for a ride up to the top floor of the Eiffel Tower. Psycho picks up the extension cord and pushes the elevator button, bringing the elevator back to the base floor. As doors of the elevator open, Psycho walks inside for a ride to the top floor. Dutch is trying to connect the ground wires together, but is distracted when the elevator door opens. He picks up a metal rod that was left behind for reconstruction of the Eiffel Tower. He swings at Psycho with the rod. Psycho blocks his range of motion and delivers a blow to Dutch. Dutch falls down backward and slowly gets back up. He is in a daze from the punch that Psycho delivered.

Dutch: What is with you guys? I can't believe the internationally known guardians of the earth are defending a bunch of homos.

Psycho: I don't agree with homosexuality and any form relationship that deals with similar sex. However I will defend any living soul that is in danger or has become a victim of Karkase. For your organization has no honor and you, Dutch, I will show no mercy.

Katalambano - By Any Means Necessary

Dutch: Don't forget it was I that introduced you to the Katalambano. After you was court martialed for violating the rules of engagement, during a tour in Bosnia.

Psycho: You knew that the prisoner had beaten a female officer and raped her.

Dutch: Were you really mad because it was a female soldier? Maybe it was because you were in a relationship with that female officer. During your court martial, there were several character witnesses, admitting that you were in a relationship with that officer. It was kept a secret because you were an enlisted sergeant. There were also photos found in her tent with you and that officer.

Psycho: Yes, we were in a relationship. Yes we were wrong, but not in our eyes. Yes, you did put me on with the Katalambano. But you did something, making everything positive thing you did for the warriors to be meaningless.

Dutch: Then tell me, Psycho! What is it?

Psycho: You left us behind and turned your back on us. To represent the same terrorist that almost killed me and Neutron since we are old friends. You have an option, to turn yourself in as a prisoner or die without honor.

Dutch: Fuck your ultimatum! As far as I'm concerned, you can die with the rest of them.

Dutch rushes toward Psycho as he attempts to push Psycho over the edge of the Eiffel Tower, but Psycho falls to his side and trips Dutch with the extension cord. They wrestle on the surface. Dutch pushes Psycho against the elevator