

Romulous

destiny. Would you trust Dutch? We are talking about a man that turned his back on his own nation.

Ajax: Believe me, Solar Flex, when I get the chance, I will personally make sure I put a hot round up his backstabbing ass.

Solar Flex: Suju, get the warriors together. It's time to pay Karkase a visit, but first we must find the location of Magnesia.

Panasonic: Don't worry, Solar Flex, I am two steps ahead of the game. I used a tracking system that has the ability to locate magnetic waves. When I tuned in on the conversation that Dutch and Ecstasy was having, I used my magnetic radar wave tracking device. The radar reads that Magnesia is made out of magnesium.

Solar Flex: Why? What is the purpose for a computerized device made out of magnesium?

Panasonic: Think about it, Flex. The location is in Los Angeles, California. What is also a known killer to man that isn't gang related?

Ajax: Earthquakes!

Panasonic: Exactly! Karkase will use a source of magnetic electricity to send a current down beneath the earth's surface. This will later cause a tremendous earthquake throughout the entire state of California.

Ajax: We must stop Karkase now!

The dynamic trio shouts out the battle cry. "187, warriors, killers!"

Later, Suju and the new appointed leader Cash Money are giving the New Operation Order.

Katalambano

Suju: CM will be in charge of the mission and all orders will come from him only. Do I make myself clear, warriors?

Warriors shout out “Yes, Suju!”

Cash Money: I can’t hear you, Styles and Wan!

Both are looking reluctant to speak but still swallow their pride and shout out “Yes, Suju!”

Cash Money: Excuse me! Maybe it’s been awhile since you seen me, but allow me to introduce myself. The name is Cash Money, not Suju! My battle buddy, Averex, will be assisting me in locating Magnesia. He is also an expert on dismantling bombs and explosives.

Suju: Styles, you will carry the assault team to Karkase’s secret hideout. This will cause a diversion and confuse Karkase. Then Shelia and Jade Fox’s team will begin to suppress fire from the sky.

Cash Money: The plan is great, Suju, but once Karkase hears the alarm, he is going to press the button to trigger the earthquake. Averex and I will need to be already inside before the attack.

Suju: Don’t worry, my nephew Wan will get you guys inside. I know that he is hardheaded at times. Be he does have game. He is the master of disguises and not a bad linguist for a native of the United States of America.

Black Wan: Suju, you were always good at adding insult to injury.

Suju: Don’t take it personal, Wan. I am quite sure that you are aware that you are nobody’s sweetheart.

Black Wan: Whatever! Let’s do this.

Romulous

Cash Money and Averex arrive on the scene that is located at a junkyard. They are setting up a perimeter on the outside and waiting for Black Wan to give them the signal to come inside.

Black Wan walks up to the fence that is being guarded by two of guards. The two Arabic guards that were recruited by Ecstasy to join the evil forces of Karkase .They ask Black Wan to state his business and as Black Wan observes their accent, it is obvious that these men are from the Middle East. Black Wan is dressed as a foreigner who appears to be lost and is trying to seek directions to South Central.

Black Wan: Keyf Halak? (How are you?)

Guard number one: I am good, my man. Where did you learn Arabic?

Black Wan: A-booya. (My father.)

Guard number two: And where did your father exactly come from?

Black Wan: Ik-ku-weyt. (Kuwait.)

Guard number two: Kuwait? You are a long way from home. We are from Saudi Arabia.

You don't look like a pure Arabic descent. What nationality is your mother?

Black Wan: Am-ree-keh-ne-ya. (American.)

Guard number one: Is that so? Are they still together? But reply to me this time in English. I only speak Arabic when I am in the Middle East.

Black Wan: No, they separated when I was three. My mother was a scientist that graduated from Georgetown